MAYOR MOTT ASSUMES CHARGE OF WORK ON TWELFTH STREET DAM

Dilatory Tactics of City Engineer Turner and Protest of Citizens Arouses Him to Action

WORK is now being rapidly rushed upon the Twelfth-street roadway across the dam. Last night nearly three hundred cubic yards of rock were dumped upon the foundation and every available scraper and team under control of the city were pressed into service.

MAYOR MOTT NOW HAS TAKEN CHARGE

While the Mayor will not admit he has taken over charge of the work, those who know the facts state that he has been outraged at the dilatory tactics of City Engineer Turner and is giving the work his personal attention and is carrying it in under his personal direction.

The recent storm happily passed over before the entire road was out, but as it was it converted the roadway over the dam into a veritable quagmire in which teams were mired and autos stalled without number.

A day or two more of rain and all the work and expenditure would have been for naught.

Outcry Goes Up From Many Citizens

The outcry that went up from the public over such frightful conditions made it apparent that City Engineer Turner was ill-fitted to direct a job of such magnitude and the Mayor, who had hesitated about interfering, had no recourse but to step in and rush the work before the Twelfth-street roadway became the catastrophe of his administration.

Upon taking the direction of the work into his own hands the Mayor will order the road to be closed until he can have the entire roadway within a week.

City Engineer Turner has many excuses to make for his apparent inability to cope with the task.

He says that rock for the dam is costing the city $200 per cubic yard.

This is a strange statement to make in the face of the fact that the Ransome Grummev Company had contracted with the city to furnish all the rock that may be required for the dam at a price of $10 per cubic yard delivered at the quarry.

Traction Company Makes Liberal Offer

The traction company has generally agreed to haul this rock to the dam at a cost of $10 per cubic yard. This offer was made many weeks ago and had Turner acted promptly the work would have been completed and the city treasury and taxpayers saved a great many dollars. The Ransome Grummev Company can haul at least three hundred cubic yards per day.

It was now with Turner's neglect that the Mayor, who had hesitated about interfering, had no recourse but to step in and rush the work before the Twelfth-street roadway became the catastrophe of his administration.

PEARY'S ACT PUT IN BAD LIGHT BY WHITNEY

Hints That Someone Tried to Befuddle the Eskimos of Dr. Cook

POLE DISCOVERER TOLD WHITNEY OF HIS SUCCESS

Peary Treated Cook's Baggage Just as He Did Sverdrup's Years Ago

ST. JOHN'S, N. I., Sept. 28.—The Arctic vessel Thetis with Harry Whitney, the New Haven big game hunter on board, arrived here from the Arctic and east by way of India this morning.

Mr. Whitney was questioned regarding the statement made to him by Dr. Cook in Greenland. He said Cook arrived at Anaktok in April of this year and declared that he had reached the North Pole a year before. He pledged Whitney, however, not to tell Commander Peary, who was to be informed only that Cook had gone farther north than Peary's previous record—87 degrees six minutes.

Murphy, Peary's boatswain, who was in charge of the stores, was absent from the ship on this day and did not see the communications. There were two letters on the Greenland shore, one at Anaktok, telling Cook's stores, and another at Etah, telling Peary's stores. The three white men—Whitney, Murphy, and Peary—sometimes occupied a room and the other of these three.

USE COOK'S SUPPLIES FIRST

Whitney is not able to tell what he did with the supplies of the Thetis in the Arctic. He said that he had seen the supplies of the Thetis in the Arctic and that he had seen the supplies of the Thetis in the Arctic.

Whitney was told in the Arctic that he was to use the supplies of the Thetis in the Arctic. He said that he had seen the supplies of the Thetis in the Arctic and that he had seen the supplies of the Thetis in the Arctic.

BIG FUND FOR IRRIGATION PURPOSES NEEDED

President Greeted by Cheering Multitude; Asks About Ball Game

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 28.—In a speech on the conservation of natural resources delivered here today, President Taft declared that he would ask Congress to authorize the issuance of $10,000,000 in bonds to complete irrigation projects already begun in the West and on which work had been stopped for lack of funds.

This has been the hope of many settlers in the arid regions who had taken up land in expectation of securing a supply of water to make them fertile, and the President's declaration was enthusiastically cheered.

The President declared that many newspapers had drawn unfair inferences as to the attitude of his administration on the general conservation of natural resources.

"The truth is," he said, "my administration is pledged to follow out the policies of Mr. Roosevelt in this regard and while that pledge does not involve me in any obligation to carry them out unless I have congressional authority to do so it does require that I take every step to exert every legitimate influence upon congress to enact the legislation which shall best serve the purpose indicated."

PRaises BALLINGER

The President declared that Secretary of the Interior Ballinger is in accord with him as to the necessity for promoting in every legitimate way the conservation of natural resources.

The President also has praise for Chief Forester Gifford Pinchot and refers to his wonderful work for the conservation of the forests, supported by Mr. Roosevelt.

President Taft declared as to water power that congress must authorize the government to adopt these sites for the development of the power and the government retaining control and supervision. He declared that he would urge upon congress the necessity of an authority to acquire the public lands to protect the water power and the mineral lands as agricultural lands and vice versa.

The President said in his train on the morning of his departure that he was in accord with him as to the necessity for promoting in every legitimate way the conservation of natural resources.

PEARY CLAIMS OREGON TRUNK LINE TO TAP OAKLAND

Whitney as His Guest
Knew Cook Was Trying to Take Advantage of His Work and Supplies

PORTLAND, Sept. 28.—I wish to emphasize that the relations between Whitney and myself were at all times—when he was abroad the Roosevelt and when he was here—of a friendly and amicable nature. Whitney occupied Captain Bertlett's cabin on the Roosevelt at a rate of $100 a month and every courtesy was extended him. Whitney was a very capable and energetic man and was now on the Roosevelt, including much of his time in the Roosevelt.

Peary said Whitney had been his guest at Etah for a year. Up to the moment he last saw him, Peary said, he did not consider it conceivable that Whitney could have any sinister intentions. Whitney's movements of Dr. Cook. In fact Whitney stated that he merely had some of Cook's belongings and asked to put them aboard the Roosevelt. This I refused to permit for obvious reasons. I knew what Cook was up to and that he was trying to take every advantage of my life and work and supplies. Therefore I did not care to make the Roosevelt an express for Dr. Cook. As for Whitney living a year on my supplies, he was perfectly welcome and he should have considered himself a guest during the year he was hunting from Etah.

DOUBTS COOK'S STORY
Peary said he does not believe Cook left records, instruments or flags with Whitney and cannot conceive that any man under the conditions would have left such priceless things behind.

Up to noon today Peary had received no word from him and had not attempted to communicate with Whitney.

Peary's reference to his relations with Whitney was made after he had been asked if it was true that he had elected Whitney from the Roosevelt. He explained Whitney's leaving the ship by saying Whitney was on board from August 22 to August 23, that on the morning of August 23 the Roosevelt met the Jeanie and they fled up together and went north in it. As the Jeanie had been sent by Whitney and he did not further hunting, naturally he went aboard his own ship. Peary, accompanied by Mrs. Peary, left Portland today for Bar Harbor to confer with General Thomas Hubbard. Peary said he would remain at Bar Harbor through tomorrow and expected that he would stop off at Eagle Island and another or two before proceeding to New York to take his place on the staff of the Roosevelt in the Hudson River celebration parade.

Madame Yale's Advice

To the many seekers after beauty through the channels of the Yale System (whose names are legion) I give the following advice. First consider your needs from a critical standpoint of self-inspection. What are your blemishes? What is the condition of your skin? Health conditions must be fully considered. Are you enjoying good health? If so, your blemishes are probably skin deep. Under these circumstances the external preparations will suffice. If however you are the unhappy victim of ill health, you are sadly in need of Yale Health Remedies for overruling organs, derangement and establishing harmonious action of all functions. Remember, a discordant health note will show its ill effects on the countenance and leave the indelible stamp of suffering that no external preparation can erase. To properly cleanse my health remedies, Fruticura is a Yale remedy for creating and restoring organ and constitutional health in women and girls. 'Yale Blood Tonic' is the scavenger of the blood. Its cleansing influence is extended throughout the entire system, the blood, liver and kidneys being its chief benefactors. 'Yale Purifier' Tablets are for healthfully exercising the outlet channel of the system, the bowels and glandular system, responding quickly to its action. 'Yale Complexion Tablets' are rapid blood makers. They therefore apply certain lacking ingredients to the channels of the blood. 'Yale Hepar-Rena Pills' act directly on the kidneys. Any derangement of the kidneys shows visibly on the face, bloating around the eyes being a chief symptom. 'Yale Oleo-Bain' being an intestinal lubricant of wonderful merit, everyone should take an occasional dose of it to keep the intestinal tract and bowels free from irritation. It has made some very remarkable stomach and bowel cures—its doing so every day. 'Yale Digestive Tablets' aid digestion. They act on the stomach. These remedies being wonderful cures should be taken in combination or singly according to needs. When taking Fruticura, then Yale Blood Tonic is unnecessary. Fruticura and 'Complexion Tablets' are a splendid combination. 'Yale Tonic and Food Tablets' work well together. Also Blood Tonic and Hepar-Rena Pills work well in conjunction. The results of external preparations are greatly hastened by the beneficial action of the health remedies on the skin and hair functions. In selecting Yale preparations for external use, do not be confused with each other. 'Yale Complexion Bleach' is for clearing the skin of discoloration and blemishes that do not amount to a skin disease. 'Yale Special Lotion' and 'Yale Special Ointment' are for curing skin diseases of an eruptive nature. 'Yale Antiseptic' should also be used in connection with this treatment. 'La Freckle' is for obliterating freckles, caused from exposure, wind and sun. The deep seated freckles, however, that belong to the mole species, require more persistent treatment. Moles and warts may be successfully removed without leaving a scar by following the directions on 'Yale Mole and Wart Extractor' bottles. 'Yale Lark Skin Whener' takes the place of 'Yale Complexion Bleach' when the skin is only slightly discolored. It is also an exquisite toilet article for the skin with good complexion. It is a means of enhancing and preserving the beauty of the skin. 'Yale Hair Cream' is a skin stimulant for giving healthy activity to the minute blood vessels of the skin. 'Yale Blush of Youth' is a facial cream, an actual necessity for strengthening and giving weak facial nerves and muscles. 'Yale Skin Cream' for Wrinkles is just what its name implies—a product for removing wrinkles and preserving the youthful addition of the skin and contour, formerly called Skin Tonic. Almost all women are complexed in cream. The face of millions of women and girls everywhere. I cannot lay too much stress on lauding the practical of this valuable toilet cream for general use. Every member of a household has daily need for it. 'Yale Mole and Wart Extractor' is for massaging purposes. Its pleasing lubricating qualities recommend it above all other preparations. 'Yale Hand Whener' keeps the hands soft and white. A equally beautiful comes next to a pretty face from a lady's culture standpoint. The same preparations used in the face may be successfully used on the hands—with the exception of Skin Cream for Wrinkles. 'Yale Best Cream' will do much more efficient work on neck, bust, arms and hands. Among the Yale preparations worthy of special mention is 'Yale Hair Tonic'. This wonderful cream has left its distinguishing mark on many a supple hair on the face, may be a quick remedy for the hair with 'Yale Great Scalp' and 'Yale Hair Tonic' on the arms. Every part of the body should be treated with 'Yale Complexion Bleach' and 'Yale Tooth Powder' are likewise excellently pure, exquisite, delicate, toilet aids that have given general satisfaction for over a quarter of a century. They will not disappoint you. I personally recommend and guarantee the Yale preparations to do all claim for them. They will not be confused with ordinary patent medicines, but are pure and distinct. They enjoy genuine, but not mere distinction and belong in a class of their own.

Annexation Movement.

For several months the question of annexation to Oakland has been the chief subject of public discussion in Fruitvale, Melrose, Fitchburg, Alameda and Elmhurst. When an election was held before to annex east side territory the project was defeated by the outside vote. Since then Oakland has adopted the wise policy of letting the outside district take the initiative by soliciting annexation when it wanted it. This city's attitude has, therefore, been passive during the present annexation agitation.

What annexation means to the territory annexed is, however, misunderstood by many who are directly interested. Anti-annexationists have endeavored to beg the issue and defeat the movement by falsely asserting that the territory annexed will have to share Oakland's bonded indebtedness. Whatever the latter may be at the time of the annexation of any new territory must be borne and liquidated by Oakland, as it was bonded when the debt was contracted. In the same manner the outside school and sanitary districts must carry and redeem their bonded indebtedness independently after annexation. And if Oakland should vote at the coming bond election to create a waterfront improvement and city hall indebtedness, the property within the present city limits will carry it. That is the reason why the bond election will be called before an annexation election. It is an equitable proposition to all parties concerned.

The advantages which will accrue to outside territory if annexed include fire and police protection, public street lighting and the care of public streets and sewers. The great value of an efficient fire department was recently illustrated in Fruitvale when the Oakland fire department voluntarily responded to an alarm of fire in Fruitvale's business district, far outside of the city limits. If that friendly act had not been performed the whole of a large business block would undoubtedly have been totally destroyed. When Fruitvale becomes a part of Oakland the latter will be assuming the obligation of giving it adequate protection against fire. But besides there are a multitude of advantages other than those named which annexed territory acquires when it becomes part of a great and growing municipality.

Shifting of Grain Export.

It is not at all surprising that Montreal should have outclassed New York and other North Atlantic ports as a grain exporter. The growth of population in the United States has been so great within the last decade that it is rapidly declining as a grain exporter. Indeed, the United States has reached that point in its career when grain production and consumption are practically equal. Montreal claims to be exporting now 60 per cent of the grain shipped over sea to Europe and Great Britain from North Atlantic ports. The reason is plain. The central provinces of the Dominion are largely devoted to wheat growing and find outlet for their crops for export abroad at Montreal, whose harbor commission has given much attention to the development of grain-shipping facilities. The western provinces of the Dominion, which are also developing as enormous wheat producers, are finding a more economical outlet for their crops on the Pacific seaboard at Vancouver, and to accommodate the movement the Canadian Pacific Railroad has, during the past year, made special arrangements in increased rolling stock equipment and other facilities for handling the crops. Henceforth and for many years to come the Old World will doubtless rely chiefly on these expansive Canadian wheatfields for their surplus supply of breadstuffs.

If the Board of Public Works is not entirely indifferent to public sentiment at the Twelfth-street causeway will be raised to completion without further delay. Its present condition is due to procrastination and a desire to favor certain street contractors. The rain of Saturday made it well-nigh impassable. A real downpour would completely sever Oakland's communications with the eastern and southern suburbs. Should such a contingency happen, which is extremely likely, a storm of public indignation would shake the city hall and probably displace a number of its occupants. It is not difficult to outlive the memory of good deeds and a good reputation. The Twelfth-street causeway is an emergency proposition and must be so treated. If another rain should follow more delay will be made and the city will be around the city hall of a decidedly unpleasant tenor.

Peary lets it be plainly understood at the outset of his controversy with Dr. Cook that he does not propose to be convinced. But is it necessary to convince him?

PSYCHOLOGY OF CROWDS

There is a justification for a pseudo-psychology in the peculiar nature of the crowd. Collective psychology or the psychology of crowds (mainly investigated so far by French and Italian writers) is a study still in its infancy. A completely satisfactory explanation of the peculiarities of the crowd is not yet forthcoming. But these peculiarities are not entirely new. They are old as the hills. A crowd is a new entity, different in mind and will from the individuals who compose it. Its intellectual life is lowered, its emotional pitch raised. It takes on something of the Water Front Improvements.

At the Council meeting held last night the Board of Public Works and ex-officio Board of Harbor Commissioners submitted its recommendations for a new city hall and the proposed improvement of the water front, to serve as a basis for the calling of a bond election. The recommendations are restricted to a new city hall and hall of justice and wharf improvements on the western and southern water fronts. The cost of the municipal building is placed at $1,150,000, and of the wharf improvements $2,220,000.

It is of the greatest importance that the improvement of Oakland's water front should be pushed, and that a beginning should be made without unnecessary delay. Commerce is demanding increased facilities. The demand grows more urgent, indeed, with each passing day. We are losing precious opportunities for increasing our commerce because the facilities for its accommodation are not yet provided.

What is needed is to make a beginning on both water fronts of the city. Once a beginning is made the value of the wharf and dock improvements developed will be evident to everybody and the further increase of such facilities for shipping will be comparatively easy. When the value of improving the water front for the benefit of commerce is once practically demonstrated, it will be smooth sailing thereafter. The people will not hesitate to provide the funds needed later to expand the work. Hence it is absolutely necessary that the work should be started with the least possible delay.

It is a genuine pleasure to every public-spirited citizen of Oakland to see work on the new Y. M. C. A. building actually in progress. Actual work is a guarantee of good faith, an evidence that the building will be erected in accordance with the published plans, and as it assumes the form of reality it more than ever commends itself to the good wishes of the community. But this evidence of vigor and good faith deserves, and should receive, more than good wishes. Substantial support as well as moral encouragement is needed. The money to erect the building has been subscribed and a large part of it collected, but it is necessary to the prompt completion of the building that the uncollected subscriptions should be paid in without delay. With the money in hand the trustees can go ahead with all possible dispatch, and this, we are sure, is what all the good people of this city desire. All those in arrears with their subscriptions should pay up at their earliest convenience and encourage others in giving cordial support to the Y. M. C. A.

It will doubtless be a source of some public surprise to learn that, according to a statement made by Dr. N. K. Foster, recently appointed by the Board of Education to the position of medical officer in charge of the department of health development and sanitation connected with the Oakland public schools, that from twelve to twenty per cent of the pupils are afflicted with some physical impairment which it is justly presumed interferes with their capacity for study. Dr. Foster reports that these physical defects are as follows: Defective vision and hearing, chronically enlarged tonsils, adenoids, decayed teeth, defective nasal breathing, enlarged glands, malnutrition, heart disease and tuberculosis. The medical examiner reports that the latter is much more prevalent than is generally supposed, which is anything but a comforting fact to learn.

A San Leandro Justice of the Peace takes the common sense view of the game law by holding that any man who shoots jack rabbits, squirrels or any other predatory animals, is not required to take out a gun license. The law as amended by the Legislature at its last session reads as follows:

"Every person in the State of California who hunts, pursues or kills any of the wild birds or animals, excepting predatory birds or animals, without first procuring a license therefor, as provided in the act, is guilty of a misdemeanor."

If it can be proved that deer, quail and other birds and animals classed as game are depredating on private property, the new law seems to be subject to the reasonable construction that no offense is committed in shooting them also without procuring a gun license.

Some of the larger vineyardists of the State are apparently taking steps to emancipate themselves from the monopoly of the California Winegrowers' Association by combining their several interests in a way to enable them to handle and market the products of their own wineries without the intervention of any organization of middlemen.

SUCCOTH SOCIAL TO BE GIVEN TOMORROW

The Jews have made announcement of a social open meeting to be held tomorrow evening in the clubrooms in Zion Hall, Ninth and Castro streets. The event will commemorate Succoth or the feast of the Tabernacle, which is one of the most interesting festivals in the Jewish calendar. During the evening refreshments will be served and a musical program rendered. It will be the first time that a social gathering of this kind has been given by the Jews in this city. The committee in charge of the Succoth social consists of M. Dornman, chairman, and he will be assisted by J. Levy, H. Abrahamson, L. Wise and Morris Goldman.

KAISER'S TRAVELING WARDROBE

The Kaiser when he travels takes with him an extensive and well furnished wardrobe. Another formidable item in his baggage is his motor cars. He never travels far without them.

During his recent sojourn at Corfu he had no less than half a dozen sent to him; five were for German manufacture, the sixth Italian; all the imperial cars were painted ivory white and all carry horns of a different sound. While the Kaiser's wardrobe occupies a dozen closets and about a score of other people, the cooking arrangements, which the empress supervises, are modest.

The Kaiser, on voyage, is generally cheerful, but he takes the morning at all events seriously. He rises at 8 o'clock and at 7 o'clock begins work with the heads of his civil, military and naval household. At 9 o'clock he does his letter writing. The royal epistles are written on specially manufactured note paper, thick and heavy, ivory white with

DAY OF BANK BURGLARY PASSES

There are small pickings these days for the professional bank burglars and other criminals who prey upon the banking interests. In days of old the field was a fruitful one, but now most of the prominent bankers of the country are members of the American Bankers' Association and this association claims the protection of the Pinkertons.

The reason why the skilled bank craftsmen of old have gone to other parts, turned their attention to crooked

MODERN WAR CHARIOT

The possibilities of the automobile in warfare have certainly been overlooked by the military authorities; although the great mass of "citizens on foot" have known it for a long time. It is true Germany and England have built a number of armored motor cars carrying rapid-fire guns, but they would appear almost harmless beside the plain, every day article, when properly applied.

The ancients set much store by their war chariots, some of which were provided with great scythes, sharp as razors, which projected on either side of the chariot. When a battery of these led a charge they literally mowed down the enemy by hundreds before the drivers and horses could be slain.

Hundreds of years later, in fact only a few weeks ago, the idea is reincarnated and comes to life at a review of the territorial, or volunteer, corps in an English village. A party of newspaper reporters, embarked in an automobile, were taking notes and making pictures of the event, and for a time all went well.

The car was one of the common, ordinary variety, guaranteed to stand without hitting and all that. Whether after centuries of lethargy the goal of the machine became suddenly aroused at the sight of soldiery and possessed of an uncontrollable desire to again plunge into a sea of blood or whether it was a simple case of the chauffeur getting rattled, matters little. The important fact is that the car, which had been standing docile at one side, without warning plunged into the lines of some 600 troops, which broke in consternation. During the few seconds of its activity the machine knocked down or ran over several score soldiers, and before it could be calmed into obedience had filled a big hospital with the wounded and injured.

Had the attack come from a company of German cavalry or infantry with rapid fire guns or even an airship, it is believable the territorialists would have stood their ground until the last man fell, but the awful, irresistible panic of a wild and enraged motor car—and only a two cylinder car at that—was something which put the bravest to flight.—Popular Mechanic.

Fighting the Great White Plague

Efforts to reduce mortality from tuberculosis among the negroes by forming working leagues in colored churches throughout the country are being pursued by the public health and marine hospital service of the government. The organization of such a league was announced by the service last May, and it has reached that point in progress where supplementary suggestions as to organization and administration can be made. C. T. Wertenbaker, surgeon of the service, in the latest report on public health, has contributed an outline of what this organization should be.

The vulnerability of the negro to tuberculosis was established long ago through mortality statistics collected by the government. The fact that the disease is seemingly more destructive of that race than of the whites is not asserted, however, to any inherent or constitutional weakness, but to the conditions under which the negro lives. Dr. Wertenbaker thus sets forth this condition:

"Probably one of the most important factors in the spread of tuberculosis, aside from his habits, is the manner in which the negro is housed. The negro, as a rule, is a renter. The houses that he can rent are usually in the poorest and most unhealthy part of the city. They are often poorly constructed, badly lighted and ventilated, and frequently in bad repair. The rooms are usually small and dark, having but one window, and the top sash is seldom arranged to be lowered. Many houses are built on poorly drained ground and, making the rooms damp and cold."

It is suggested that leaders of the race in the various States organize leagues, adopt constitutions and appoint committees to select a vice-president for each county in every State. The latter officials are expected to appoint representatives in each community to help them organize leagues in the local churches and to arouse interest in the work.—Chicago News.

A man can be just as big a fool over politics as over women, but he can find it out in the first case, never in the latter.

Topics Timely and Interesting

The Baltimore Sun, in commenting on the report that Thomas Nelson Page, the Southern author, may become vice-chancellor of the University of the South, hopes that he will accept the post, and says: "If he should consent to devote his time and talents to education, Dr. Page would be only following the example of the greatest of Southerners and most beloved of Virginians, Robert B. Lee, who chose this as the field in which he could best serve his people. General Lee made Washington College a great institution, and his advice, his counsel and his guidance bear fruit to this day in the young men who have a light blue edging and measuring rather less than 15 inches by a little more than 11. Compared with the Kaiser's note paper, his cards are enormous. They bear the inscription, "William, German Emperor, King of Prussia."—Minneapolis Journal.

Religion Prohibits Smoking

William Williams, commissioner of immigration, is puzzled over the case of Joseph Cassim, fourteen years old, who came here September 9 from his home in Mount Lebanon, Palestine, to go to his brother, Hassen, in Pineville, Kentucky. The brother is in business in Pineville with a cousin, Henry Cassim, and is said to be prosperous.

The board of special inquiry on Ellis Island decided Wednesday that the boy's mother in Mount Lebanon was a better guardian and ordered him deported. He offered to put up a bond of $2000 that the boy would not be a public charge, and explained that if deported the lad would be sent first to Rio de Janeiro, as he had come that way. The commissioner's attention had been called to the boy because the youngster wanted to beat a man who offered him a cigarette on the island. The boy explained that the drug religion, in which he was brought up, prohibited the use of tobacco in any form, a fact that made all Ellis Island wonder. A decision is expected tomorrow.—New York Herald.

TAFT AND THE JAPANESE

President Taft's address to the Japanese commissioners, whom he met at Minneapolis, is remarkable for that combination of frankness and friendliness which is one of the most engaging and distinctive characteristics of the public utterances of the speaker. It was consummately tactful and in the best of taste. It complimented the nation to whose representatives it was directed in terms whose fitness and moderation communicated the impression of an entire and absolute sincerity.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

THE FINAL SEAL

The Minneapolis speech puts the final seal upon the pledge of friendship, trade co-operation and interchange of ideas and products which exists between the two countries. If the President accomplishes nothing more in his journey than the cementing of friendship with Japan, it will have been worth all the trouble.—Washington Post.

"WARS WOULD CEASE."

The President dropped politics in Minnesota Saturday to greet the visiting delegation from Japan. He at once expressed his regret that he could not have received the party at the White House, gently adding: "But a prettier spot than this could hardly be found outside of Japan."

To the Baron Shibusawa, not to be outdone in politeness, replied, "I think this far more beautiful." Reduced to its proper significance, this incident was but a polite exchange of courtesies, but it is nevertheless true that just such incidents add to the joy of living and to one's faith in the fundamental agreeableness of human nature when untainted by the coarser passions. If it could be made the language of the world, wars would cease.—New Haven Journal-Courier.

FLOOD EXCEEDS NIAGARA

James H. Schuyler, an American engineer, who recently accompanied President Taft on a tour of inspection on the Panama canal, declared today that the rush of water in the recent Monterey flood, which cost 1500 lives in that city 45,000 cubic feet a second. He based the statement on records furnished him by competent engineers.

"The volume of water that swept down the Santa Catalina river during the flood was 210,000 cubic feet a second," said Mr. Schuyler. "Niagara carries at the famous falls a volume of water amounting to 222,000 cubic feet a second."

"The Santa Catalina watershed comprises 544 square miles, so that the estimated discharge of water during the height of the flood was 550 cubic feet a second and a square mile."

"The discharge at Estanzuela was 825 feet a second a square mile. The highest flow I ever heard of before was not more than 150 cubic feet."

"As much as 21.61 inches of rain fell in Monterey in 96 hours, from August 26 to August 29."

"A few days before that time 14 inches fell in 42 hours, making a total rainfall of 34.15 inches in 140 hours. The mean rainfall there for August in any year in twenty-one years has not exceeded 27 inches."—San Francisco Examiner.

LONDON LIKES NO-TIP HOTEL

Tip-ridden London is a ferment of excitement. At up-to-date hotel has been established here in which moderate charges are made for food and lodging, and all employees who solicit or accept tips are discharged. It is doing a land-office business, while other hotels, which have been jacking up prices and permitting their employees to force guests to give bigger tips or suffer from inattention, are drifting toward bankruptcy. It is asserted here that one of the newest and handsomest hotels in the metropolis has been run at a loss of $100,000 to its shareholders, mainly because of efforts to fleece tourists and others by exorbitant prices and by countenancing the worst of the gang of tip hawks employed therein.

As soon as the no-tip hotel was opened there was a rush for it that staggered even its proprietors. It could have been filled twice over. The exodus from the tip hotels caused consternation among the financial brokers, managers, and employees of such places. Opinion is expressed here now that other no-tip hotels will be opened and that the older hostels will be forced in self-defense to join in the crusade against tips.

Harry G. Sidgwick, head of the no-tip hotel, says from 5000 to 8000 persons who have fled from the tip hawks are being fed daily in the luncheon rooms, and that tips are nearly as scarce as hen's teeth.—New York Press.

Concerning Foreign People

Colonel Arthur Lynch, who has now been restored to the full possession of his political rights, will shortly begin to practice in London as a consulting physician. It will be remembered that while he was a member of the British Parliament he organized the Irish Brigade in South Africa and, fought on the Boer side. When he returned to this country he was charged with high treason. His trial, which was one of the most dramatic on record, led to his conviction and he was sentenced to death. The sentence was, however, commuted to penal servitude for life. After a few years he was released and finally had all his civil rights restored and may again obtain a seat in Parliament. Before he took up the study of medicine, Colonel Lynch was an engineer, lecturer and journalist.

ONE-LEGGED WICKETKEEPER.

The Knottt Ash Cricket Club possess a wonderful one-legged wicketkeeper in Mr. J. Lunt. When quite young he had the misfortune to lose his left leg just below the hip but his interest in the game of cricket was so keen that even that did not deter him from pursuing the game he loved so well. Bearing his crutch under his arm in a diagonal position, he stands with his hands together in the most approved fashion, and can take the ball in a facile and finished manner and with equal ease on either the "off" or "leg" side. His agility is nothing short of amazing against fast bowlers.

A SCULPTOR BY ACCIDENT.

Mr. George E. Wade, the well known sculptor who has made four statues of the king, really discovered his forte by accident. He was looking forward to a career at the bar, when, during a holiday in Rome one summer, he made a rapid drawing of some antique statuaries and showed it to a sculptor. The latter pronounced it exceedingly good, and Mr. Wade found it difficult to convince him that he had never practiced draughtsmanship, and that it was the first drawing he had undertaken. It was this chance drawing which ultimately altered Mr. Wade's whole career.

KING MANUEL'S WIT.

Deep and sincere is the attachment which exists between the boy King of Portugal and his mother, Queen Amelia. The following anecdote furnishes an illustration of the closeness of their companionship as well as the ready wit of the young king. When King Manuel was anxious to return to Lisbon to continue his studies his mother asked him, somewhat playfully, why he was so eager to leave her. "Because, if I do not leave you at once, I shall be unable to leave you at all," he quoted readily from one of her favorite poets.

A "DOUBT-FUL" COMPLIMENT.

After singing "Kathleen Mavourneen" as an encore at Cardiff, a few years ago, an amusing little incident occurred to Miss Clara Butt in connection with an old Irishman whom she found waiting for her when she left the concert hall. With tears in his eyes he caught hold of her cloak and, falling upon his knees, began to bless her in his rich Irish brogue. "Bless!" he concluded, "I don't know who you are, but, bless me, you are a beautiful woman. I have heard the beautiful way you sang it tonight—a compliment which some people might think was rather a doubtful one."—London Times.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC PLANS NEW LINES

Project Is Set Afoot to Build Extensions to Fruitvale and San Leandro

ALAMEDA, Sept. 28.—The Southern Pacific railroad company is planning an extension of its lines from Alameda to Fruitvale.

From an authoritative source it was learned today that surveying for the right of way will begin immediately after the construction of the High street bridge which recently was destroyed by fire.

This extension of the railroad company's plans was made by a construction engineer who stands high in the Harborman service and it is the direct result of the campaign started by Alameda for the annexation of the seven precincts of Fruitvale.

FORMS CAMPAIGN ARGUMENT.

In connection with the movement to annex the Alameda Chamber of Commerce for the connection of the two districts through the Oakland Traction Company, the Southern Pacific project will be used as one of the strongest arguments in the new campaign to defeat the annexation of Brooklyn township.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28.—The Southern Pacific has been contemplating an extension of its lines from the Alameda loop to Fruitvale. It is now planned that this be accomplished with the electrification of the line.

The proposed route to be along Fruitvale avenue, thus supplying one of the most thickly settled districts of the territory. The extension would leave the Alameda loop at High street and ending on Fruitvale avenue after crossing the High street bridge.

LINE TO SAN LEANDRO.

In connection with this reconstruction and extension work it is also declared possible that the Southern Pacific will extend a line to San Leandro from Alameda along the right of way already owned by the railroad company over the county road which is to connect this city with adjacent towns.

The proposed extension of the Chamber of Commerce to the Oakland Traction Company will also start a trolley line to be built along High street running from Alameda to the end of the street.

The Traction Company would thus tap the Alameda and High street districts and enter into direct competition with the proposed line of the Key route to Hayward. The Alameda extension of the Southern Pacific also would cut it out.

If the project is undertaken and THE TRIBUNE's informant declares that it will within a short time, cars will be operated within a few months after the work is started.

THUG USES CLUB IN ROBBING MAN

George Davis, Assaulted by Footpad, Thought to Be New at Business

While returning home last night George Davis residing at 535 Hubart street, was assaulted and robbed by a footpad about 200 feet west of Telegraph avenue on Hubart street. The thug was armed with a short piece of scuffling with which he felled his victim. Davis was struck a stunning blow across the side of the face and dropped like a log. The footpad then made a hasty search of the pockets of the prostrate man. He secured $2.40 in money and an ingersoll watch.

That the footpad was in a hurry and did not make a thorough search was evidenced by the fact that he overlooked $5.00 in small change which rolled out of the pocket of the assault victim where he fell. The victim of the assault lay where he fell until found by Everett H. Moore. The latter notified Policeman C. McCarthy who had the injured man conveyed to the receiving hospital for treatment.

The police have a description of the footpad. From the manner in which he committed the robbery it is not thought that he is a professional at the business. "Captain" O'Neil and Inspector Arthur of the Boston police department were requested yesterday of the local police officers. Captain O'Neil entered Oakland's captain of detectives, Petersen while the latter was in London.

AUTO 'JOY' RIDES COMMENCES SUIT

George Stoffer Charges Wife With Spending Evenings in Road Houses

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28.—Night automobile rides of the wild exciting order sprinkled with visits to road houses and long evenings spent amidst the glitter of the electric lights in beach resorts on the part of Mrs. Leone Stoffer were responsible for a suit for divorce filed against her by her husband, George W. Stoffer, in the superior court today.

"I was out having a good time with the bunch."

"I've been out to the road houses with the crowd."

These are the replies which Stoffer claims to have received from his spouse on her return after trips which occupied some occasions forty-eight hours, according to his sworn statement. He declares that almost ever since the couple were married in January 1908, his wife has been in the habit of leaving him to look out for himself, telling him she must get out occasionally with the bunch. He avers that she is particularly fond of a man named Fred Derring, and that when he addressed the latter about her Derring explained that he had advised Stoffer to return to her husband and look out for him, but that she had replied that she didn't love him any more.

SUBMITS PLANS FOR NEW SEAWALL

Engineer J. T. Flynn Shows Proposed Dockage Facilities of His Scheme

At a continuation of the hearing of the California Rivers and Harbor League before the recently appointed city waterways commission, Engineer J. T. Flynn presented the complete plans for the erection of a seawall on the local waterfront extending the length of 5000 feet which, he asserts, will allow for the accommodation of approximately 3,500,000 feet of cargo, which is one-half of San Francisco's total dockage facilities, which he promises to build for $500 a foot.

ADJOURNED FOR WEEK.

The entire forenoon session was given over today to heated argument between adherents of the adverse factions and at noon a recess was taken for one week to permit the commission, which is composed of Colonel W. H. Heuer, harbors and rivers expert, who is acting as chairman, City Engineer and M. K. Miller to visit the ground in question on which to submit an opinion on the present plans to the Board of Works within the space of one week.

"Three months ago a demand was for bids of $400,000" and now it is $500,000 said former City Attorney Johnson, "and while I do not presume and have no desire to dispute the honesty of the motives of any member of this board I think it is a grave possibility that the project of ignoring the waterfront may meet with defeat on the bond issue, because of the involved projects in which the people will demand a clear and concise explanation."

START ARGUMENTS IN TOMALTY TRIAL

Case Will Probably Go to Jury by Tomorrow Evening

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28.—For nearly three hours this morning Assistant District Attorney Harrison argued to a jury in Judge Lawlor's court for the conviction of James C. Tomalty, charged with the misappropriation of funds of the treasurer's office. His address consisted largely of a summing up of the large amount of technical evidence, the quoting of figures and the rehearsing of the work of handwriting experts.

It proved rather tedious to the jury who are worn out with the strain of examining and delving into accounts. Attorney Chevalier representing the defendant, began his address at 2 o'clock this afternoon and the case is expected to go to the jury tomorrow.

SAYS HE CAN MAKE SLEEPING PORCH ON ANY KIND OF HOUSE

Sleeping Porch Recently Constructed by Thoms the Expert Canvas Worker, Showing How His or House Was Reconstructed, at Small Expense, to Accommodate Two Beds.

BY SPECIALIZING ON SLEEPING PORCH BUILDING THIS MAN HAS DONE WONDERS—SAYS NO ONE NEED BE WITHOUT THIS HEALTH-GIVING DEVICE—OVERCOMES MOST DIFFICULT OF ARCHITECTURAL PROBLEMS

"That man Thoms is doing more real good toward the health of more people than any man in Alameda County that I know of," said a prominent physician to a TRIBUNE reporter this morning. "He has the right ideas and will make a fortune if he continues his work. Sleeping out of doors is the greatest thing in the world, but like medicine it must be handled scientifically."

"Thoms has figured the sleeping porch problem out from a scientific standpoint," continued the doctor, "and he knows when and how to collect and filter air and understands the science of directing drafts away from the head of the sleeper. His porches are all wonderfully successful and I am sending dozens of my patients to him with instructions to give him carte blanche orders to build them thoroughly scientific porches."

The idea of sleeping out of doors was first suggested to Mr. Thoms by an eminent German specialist to whom Thoms went while visiting Europe several years ago. At that time the scheme had just started to be used in Germany and was never heard of in California.

As soon as Thoms arrived home he erected a small sleeping porch at his own home with such great success that he was requested to build duplicates for several of his friends.

From this small start grew the present prevailing custom and Thoms became so swamped with orders that he packing business and canvas calling at the Tent and Axing offices of T. Dahl & Co., 573 Eighth street, and entered seriously into the construction of sleeping porches.

"I have made a science of this work," said Thoms today, "and have been in constant correspondence with a

Femininity Is Woman's Greatest Charm

Says This Successful Woman Banker

Woman's greatest charm is her femininity.

I like to have the men wait on me. I never interfere with their opening the doors for me.

There are more womanly women in business than otherwise.

There are seven as womanly girls in our bank as you could wish to know.

Nothing so gets the femininity out of one as having to fight your own way through all the vicissitudes of a boarding house life without the anchor of domesticity.

There is nothing so well calculated to develop and preserve womanliness as keeping house.

CHICAGO.—Perhaps one of the most notable feminine figures at the Bankers' Convention was Mrs. V. F. Church, cashier and director of the Cunningham National Bank, Joplin, Mo., a real banker. Mrs. Church gives the impression of the self-possessed society woman rather than the business woman. Tall, regal and handsome, with that peculiar, soft-eyed Southern beauty, she easily takes a position among the most charming of her sex.

LIVES UP TO PLAN.
When questioned as to her recipe for keeping the masculine out of her makeup, as it is often alleged impossible for the business woman to do, she said, with a twinkle in the dark eyes: "What is my recipe? Why, I don't know that I have any in particular. I believe that woman's greatest charm is her femininity, and well, I just live up to it, I suppose."

The eyes grew reminiscent as she continued. "Twenty years ago—it's really kind of you, but I really am old enough to have been at work for twenty years—I had to go to work as my father became an invalid. Following, as I have said, that if a woman wishes to remain charming she must remain feminine. I set out with the determination to remain above all things womanly, and I have worked with that deliberate aim ever since."

LETS MEN WAIT ON HER.
A smile flitted across the expressive lips and was mirrored in the eyes as she continued. "Why I like to have the men wait on me. It's just fine to be the object of their care and admiration and oh! how they like it themselves! I never go ahead and open any doors when there's a man around to do it for me."

With a sudden seriousness Mrs. Church resumed: "Seriously, I think that women unconsciously drop their feminine charm and assume the masculine, independent style of speech and manners, and that everlasting vigilance is the price of success in 'remaining simply a woman, no matter what the occupation.'"

When asked if there were any more at home like her, Mrs. Church said: "Yes, in my opinion, there are many more womanly women in business than get credit for it. The world is used to this stereotyped complaint about masculine business women and most people do not try very hard to find out the falsity of it. There are seven as womanly girls in our bank as you would wish to know."

HOME LIFE ONLY.
When asked about her home life, she said: "Yes, I live with my mother. Nothing but home life for me. Nothing so gets the femininity out of one as having to fight your own way through all the vicissitudes of a boarding house life, tossed about here and there, with no anchor to domesticity. There is nothing so well calculated to develop and preserve womanliness as keeping house."

Use Automobile Tires for Life Savers in Bathing

This is the new European way of enjoying seaside bathing. Very quickly save our holiday makers caught on to the scheme (which originated in Ostend) of using motor tire tubes as life-buoys, and all round the coast bathers are to be seen enjoying a "tube sun bath."

WALKED WITH IDOW

ST. LOUIS.—If Arthur Volrol, 42 years old, of No. 710 Minnesota avenue, St. Louis, had not been a lawyer, he would have been a comedian. He was released by Judge Kiebler in the Wyoming Street Police Court after the judge had fined him $25, the condition of his release being that he would devote himself entirely to his wife and not go with other women.

Volrol's wife, Katherine, was the principal witness against him. It was she, however, who pleaded with Judge Kiebler after the fine had been imposed and obtained her husband's freedom.

Mrs. Volrol said she had been suspicious for some time and that a few nights previous she determined to see if her husband was not going to meet another woman when he hurried away from home. She followed him, but kept her gaze on him so intently that she did not see a ditch. She fell into the ditch, she said, and sprained her ankle, lying there helpless for an hour or more.

On the following night, when Volrol finished his supper and told his wife he had a business engagement, she followed him. She trailed him and bid behind trees. Patrolman Asping, whom she summoned, did likewise.

Presently Mrs. Julia Knipping, 35 years old, a widow of No. 3523 Roberts avenue, accompanied by Volrol, appeared at the park entrance at Grand and Loughborough avenues. Mrs. Volrol rushed forward and screamed. Patrolman Asping arrested the couple.

Volrol and Mrs. Knipping both told Judge Kiebler that they were merely friends and that their meeting had been by chance. The judge discharged Mrs. Knipping, but fined Volrol, staying the fine at Mrs. Volrol's request.

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING

At a recent bridal shower there was a pretty collection of satchels in fancy covers. At a wedding these little satin satchels, all very dainty and pretty, were thrown after the departing bride and groom in place of the usual rice and slippers.

The school studies are so arranged that children must study during evenings and quite often at night. This means that a light must be used, and it should be a strong one, covered with a green shade, to throw light upon the books and papers and not in the eyes. The lamp should be placed on a solid table, for children are careless with them.

"Rita," the authoress, is a Scotswoman by birth, and unconsciously her tongue sometimes betrays the fact though she passed most of her early years in Australia, and has since traveled a good deal. She is the only daughter of John Gilbert, of Goldfields, Western Australia. She has been twice married, the second time to W. Desmond Humphreys of Balm Trough, County Cork. "Rita" began to write early, and during the last quarters of a century she has produced quite a small library of books, many of which have been wonderfully successful. She started with "Jane Jordan," "Harry and Joan" and "Gordonia." For a time she ceased writing and then "Peg the Baker" began for her a new era of popularity.

She was 20. Anyway, says the son, his mother is out of her mind. The old woman denies him.

"Well, let my son go ahead," she added. "He'll find before he gets through that I'm not as crazy as he says I am. And after I get through he'll find that he won't get a cent out of my will."

"I want to tell you, I don't want to know whether it's true that Mr. Gelford told that man Yaw of the Board of Health that was only 35 or not and I don't care. He said I was 35. He probably thought I was. I will stick to him. I am 35 first."

"I don't blame my son so much for asking for a conservator of my estate. He is head of the Hartford Insurance Company, but the one that's making all this fuss is my son's wife, Carrie Jones, and I had to pay her fare of $40 from Selma, Alabama, six years ago, so that she could go with me to my home."

"Now she's ambitious, and she's worried because I'm married, and she's decided not to have her and the son any money. She's got a right to be scared."

Helen Mathers Abandons Pen
Helen Mathers, for thirty-four years one of the most popular of English women novelists has abandoned the pen for prosaic business. She has branched out in the line of decorating in London, and says she will return to her home, the one she is supposed to be in, in a strong with a package in her hand. It is said that she was told by literature that the death of her son was a few months ago. The shock, she says, robbed her of her zest for writing, and she decided to give her business bent and bent chance.

70-Year-Old Bride Of Youth Defies Son

HARTFORD, Conn.—"So-he," said Mrs. Lucinda Treat Godard, the 70-year-old bride of the 21-year-old Yale law student, when told that her son had not only accused her husband of perjury, but would ask for a conservator of her estate.

It is alleged by the son that young Godard, in applying for a marriage license, declared that the age of the bride-to-be was 20. Anyway, says the son, his mother is out of her mind. The old woman denies him.

"Well, let my son go ahead," she added. "He'll find before he gets through that I'm not as crazy as he says I am. And after I get through he'll find that he won't get a cent out of my will."

Give Husband Long Trial, Says Judge

WILKES-BARRE, Pa.—Judge Fuller, denying a divorce to Mrs. Adam Yenger today, held that it is the duty of a wife to put up with ill treatment until she has given him a sufficient trial.

Mrs. Yenger lived with her husband only four months. She said that he was a drunk, swore at her and was generally abusive. Judge Fuller said: "The evidence shows him to be a worthless creature, addicted to drink and vile language, with complete inability to marital obligations; but the character must have existed before marriage, and such as he was she took him for better or worse with her eyes open."

"She gave him too short a trial. In the absence of actual violence her marriage now imposed upon her the duty to endure his disgusting conduct, at least for a period which would demonstrate his disposition of reformation, and that period had not elapsed when they separated."

Won't Lend $500 to Save Wife From Jail

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—Rather than lend his former wife $500, which would have kept her from going to prison, Jacob Fickel, a brewer, saw her sentenced to the penitentiary for two years today. Sentence was sustained, and Mrs. Fickel's son will attempt to raise the money and save his mother.

Mrs. Fickel embezzled $235 from the estate of Bertha Hoenhardt while acting as guardian to the woman last winter.

Marriage Is Kept Secret 53 Years

PHILADELPHIA.—After a legal battle of many months it became known that the executors of the estate of William J. Kelly, past grand master of the Masonic fraternity of this State, who died on October 20, 1908, have signed agreements which, in substance, entitle Mrs. Elizabeth Burke Kelly, his widow, to $50,000 of the estate left by Mr. Kelly, who was generally believed to be a bachelor.

In spite of the absence of records showing the marriage of Kelly to Elizabeth Burke in St. Joseph's church here in 1855, and despite the contention of executors and attorneys that he was not married to Mrs. Kelly, who is now nearly 74 years old and lives in this city, Judge John L. Kinsey and Harry E. Hillen, executors of the estate, both of whom were beneficiaries in the will, have consented to deliver to Mrs. Kelly $50,000, the amount demanded by her at the time of Mr. Kelly's death.

The will itself, which is on file here, gives no evidence of the value of the estate, estimates of which range from $200,000 to $700,000. A public record in which Kelly admitted owning a piece of property "jointly" with his wife is said to have given Mrs. Kelly's attorneys sufficient power to force a full settlement.

INFATUATED WITH WOMAN OF WEALTH

Has Magnificent Home at Cornwall-on-Hudson but
Name Is Not Given

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—Sensational developments, it is threatened, will follow the charge in the Circuit Court yesterday that Marshall Clark, president of the Biographical Agency Company of Los Angeles, left his wife, Marie Alice Clark, to accompany a woman reputed to have a fortune of $3,000,000, about the country. Clark filed a stereotyped form of bill for divorce last June.

TRIED TO INTERFERE.

"In March, 1909," Mrs. Clark avers in her answer to his suit, "I learned of my husband's infatuation and sought to break it up. Several times I surprised him and this woman in his room in Los Angeles and went to Salt Lake. Later they went to Reno, Nevada, where Mr. Clark brought suit against me for divorce, alleging adultery. He frequently boasted that he had $5,000 in bank and that he had considerable other property. He has been living at the Congress Hotel and has been spending considerable money."

WOMAN OF WEALTH.

While the attorney on both sides are reticent regarding the case, the woman mentioned by Mrs. Clark is said to be a daughter of a New York Senator. She has a magnificent home at Cornwall-on-Hudson and is said to be worth from $5,000,000 to $5,000,000.

TRACY VINDICATED BY TRADES UNIONS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—George A. Tracy, president of the San Francisco Typographical Union, has received a complete vindication of his action and attitude in the recent jurisdictional dispute between the Typographical Union and the Photo Engravers' Union by the action of the Typographical Union in sustaining him and withdrawing from the Allied Printing Trades Council. They fall part of Tracy's action in the Photo-Engravers' dispute had been received by the Typographical Union a resolution endorsing his stand was passed unanimously. As this left the union in disagreement with the council, further action was discussed, and it was suggested that a committee be appointed to confer with the council on the subject. But the committee was not appointed, and Tracy's stand was then maintained. At the same time it is announced that Tracy had been unjustly treated and that further conference would be needed.
